May 2019 BWC News from CareWorks Comp

"Time ripens all things. No man's born wise." ~Miguel de Cervantes

Problem: "We don't have any light duty jobs for our injured workers."

Problem Solved: Grant money from the Ohio BWC, a York Transitional Work Developer to help you create "light duty jobs," or Modified Duty Offsite (MDOS) to place your injured worker at a non-profit like the Salvation Army or local food bank.

BWC Transitional Work Grants are available to assist Employers in creating a formal Return to Work program. A Transitional Work Program is a customized program that includes policies and procedures to assist employers in safely bringing injured employees with restrictions back to work by performing identified jobs, tasks or functions as they transition back to their original positions. The program also includes the development of Job Analyses which outline the employee's full duty position with task by task details for each essential job function as well as identifying modified tasks that may be performed as the employee "transitions" back to full duty. Applying for the grant is easy. The application is available at www.bwc.ohio.gov or you can reach out to Danielle Dresden of York, our Transitional Work Manager at 330.714.8884 or Danielle.Dresden@yorkrisk.com.

(MDOS) is also an alternative work option that can be part of an employer's Remain at and Return to Work Program. MDOS is a tool for employers to have available when they have limited or no transitional duty work onsite that is within the injured employee's physician documented capacities. York can assist employers in temporarily placing the employee at a local non profit working within their capacities until they can return to the employer site. For more information please contact Kimberly Wickert, York, Remain at and Return to Work Director at Kimberly.wickert@yorkrisk.com or at 330-416-0530.

Stop Use and Inspect Order Issued on 3M Fall Protection Harness

3M Fall Protection has learned of the possibility of a manufacturing defect in a dorsal d-ring of ExoFit NEX™ harnesses manufactured between January 2016 and December 2018. Although there have been no reported incidents involving this condition, a dorsal d-ring with this defect will not support the load in a fall arrest event which could result in serious injury or death. More information can be found at this link.

Behind every good outcome
